

PRESS RELEASE – for immediate release – 25th November 2005

Interactive Investor is Britain's Best Investment website

Last night Interactive Investor (www.iii.co.uk) was confirmed as the winner of the 'Best Investment Site' award at the prestigious Online Finance Awards 2005.

The service was also named winner of the award for Best Spread betting service.

Tomas Carruthers, CEO of Interactive Investor commenting on the two award wins said:

"This is recognition of the tremendous breadth of the Interactive Investor service- to be acknowledged as the best Investment website confirms that the decision we made to focus on a content rich proposition has really made a mark.

The fact that we also won the Best Spread Betting service, on top of the award for Best Share dealing site in 2004 shows that our users really value the opportunity to come to a site that genuinely caters for all their financial needs in one place.

We understand just how powerful this proposition is and will be further extending the range of services we have in 2006 to ensure that we maintain our lead"
